

I believe in opening up the airwaves (no censorship at all), but requiring television shows to publish ratings. Parents should be able to monitor their children to avoid violence and sex, at least in the evenings (after 6pm). I believe that television sets or cable boxes should be able to filter shows based on these ratings.